PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Graduate Research Assistant Sept. 2022 – Present
University of Michigan Ann Arbor, MI

- Developed an efficient algorithm using Python that leveraged generative models (e.g. diffusion models) to solve inverse problems such as inpainting and deblurring
- Investigated and proposed a provably efficient algorithm in Jax for the compression of deep learning models by studying its learning dynamics

Applied Research Data Science Intern May 2022 – Aug. 2022
LinkedIn Corporation Remote

- Designed and implemented a machine learning pipeline to forecast the capacity of LinkedIn's Kafka clusters (e.g. data storage) for efficient hardware ordering for the next calendar year
- Optimized several machine learning algorithms such as XGBoost and deep neural networks in Scala and Python

Graduate Research Assistant Sept. 2020 – May 2022
Rutgers University New Brunswick, NJ

- Developed a state-of-the-art algorithm in Python to recover time-dependent data from partial information of imaging data
- Designed and implemented an algorithm that allows hospitals to share private data for outlier detection by using t-SNE plots

Research Intern May 2019 – Sept. 2019
Wireless Information Network Laboratory North Brunswick, NJ

- Performed data collection and pre-processed millimeter-wave sensor data for Convolutional Neural Networks to infer human activities using sensor data
